Warm reminder Lời khuyên

1. the wood has a natural color difference, the color of the product will have a slight color difference after painting, which is a normal situation, not a quality problem.
2. due to different paint color and batches, coupled with manual operation factors, different batches of products will have slight color difference.
3. the color plate is properly stored, to avoid the long-term opening when not in use, sun, light and other factors that are easy to cause color change
